How Much Meat?

Retail Yield

This will vary with the weight, finish, and size of the purchased animal. The quantity of specific retail cuts will vary according to the cutting instructions given to the meat processor. Use this to plan for freezer space needed or to make other arrangements for your meat.

Dressing Percentage

The proportion of carcass weight relative to live weight of an animal. Heavier muscled animals tend to have a higher dressing percentage. Animals with a higher degree of finish usually also have a higher dressing percentage. The average dressing percentage for steers is 60%, but can vary greatly with the breed of cattle. When the animal is judged, the judges are taking into account the factors that affect dressing percentage and quality grade. Use the following yields as a guideline when making your purchasing decisions.

Beef Steer

A 1,220 pound steer will yield approximately 540 pounds of retail cuts.

- 36 lbs. T-bone, Porterhouse, Cube Steaks
- 90 lbs. Other Steaks (Sirloin, Round)
- 120 lbs. Fancy and Boneless Roasts
- 120 lbs. Bone-in Shoulder Roasts, Chuck

- 13 lbs. Shoulder - Roasts, Block Chops

Options for Buying

Straightforward Purchase

- Most Common way to support the auction!
- Highest bidder purchases the entire animal, selects the processor, and chooses which cuts they receive.
- This is a great way to fill your freezer!
- Absentee Bid - Unable to attend the auction but still want to bid? Contact Mark at mjw16@cornell.edu for an absentee bid

Split the Meat

- Sharing an animal is a common way to make the purchase more affordable and use less freezer space.
- One person represents the group when bidding and one payment is made.

Benefits for a Business

- Offering meat to employees is a great fringe benefit!
- Use the meat for company parties or gatherings!
- Donate the meat to food pantries or other worthy causes!

Not Interested in the Meat?!

- If you would like to support the auction but don't want the meat, the animal can be re-sold at the Canandaigua Stockyard! Or donate the animal back to be re-sold to benefit 4-H.

How will buyers at the Livingston County 4-H Livestock Auction be publicized?

The 4-H Livestock Auction is an excellent way for you and/or your business to be recognized as a supporter of 4-H youth and agriculture in Livingston County. The 4-H Program will recognize all buyers in local print media following the 4-H Livestock Auction.

Buyers of the Grand Champion, Reserve Champion, and Charity Animals of each species will have a photo taken with the animal and the 4-H member immediately following the sale of the animal. The buyers of these animals will receive a customized thank you gift. These photos will also be used in brochures and print media to promote the 4-H Livestock Auction the following year.

All buyers will be listed on a sign displayed in the Agricultural Building at the Hemlock Fair the following year, and recognized in next years 4-H Auction Advertisement Brochure & in the local newspaper.
